EXPLORERS GET READY FOR LONG VOYAGE HOME

Record Moon Walk Completed

Spacemen Fail To Reach Crater's Rim

By HOWARD BENEDICT
AP Aerospace Writer

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Apollo 14's explorers completed man's longest moon walk today but a gasping struggle to climb a steep slope halted them short of a prime goal, the rim of a crater named Cone.

Alan B. Shepard Jr. and Edgar D. Mitchell returned to the lunar lander Antares after 4½ hours on the moon and prepared themselves and the ship to start the return voyage to earth.

The second walk lasted as long as the first one had on Friday.

GATHERED ROCKS

Despite their disappointment in not reaching Cone Crater as part of their geological field trip they did gather ancient rocks, dig trenches and sink core tubes four feet into the soil.

More than anything else, however, they wanted to reach the rim of Cone. They had bet many of their fellow astronauts on earth that they could do it.

But as they climbed higher and higher on the long boulder-strewn slope they became more and more exhausted. They breathed heavily and their heart beats nearly doubled.

TOLD TO STOP

Mission Control advised them to stop about two-thirds of the way up the 400-foot-high moon mountain.

"That's the order of the day," Shepard lamented.

"It's farther than it looks," said a disappointed Mitchell.

So they came back down the slope and continued their scientific expedition and by the time they were back at Antares, they were in a jovial mood.

With color television recording his moves, Shepard took out two golf balls he had smuggled to the moon and whacked them with a golf club-shaped handle from his tool cart. Then he took a spear-like part from a solar wind experiment and hurled it like a javelin.

REALLY TRAVELED

In the airless one-sixth gravity of the moon, the objects really traveled.

"It goes miles and miles and miles," Shepard said.

"Beautiful," Mitchell remarked.

But on man's first attempt to climb a moon mountain they immediately encountered trouble and had to alternately pull and carry their two-wheel cart up the long grade, making their way around rocks as large as 20 feet across.

WANTED TO GO ON

They huffed and puffed and stopped often for rest. At one point about halfway up, Shepard doubted they could make it.

"Aw, gee whiz, let's give it a whirl," Mitchell urged. "I think we'll find what we're looking for at the top."

They were seeking some of the oldest rocks on the moon, perhaps dating back 4.6 billion years to the birth of the moon.

They moved ahead, but Shepard reported, "It's hard, hard, hard."

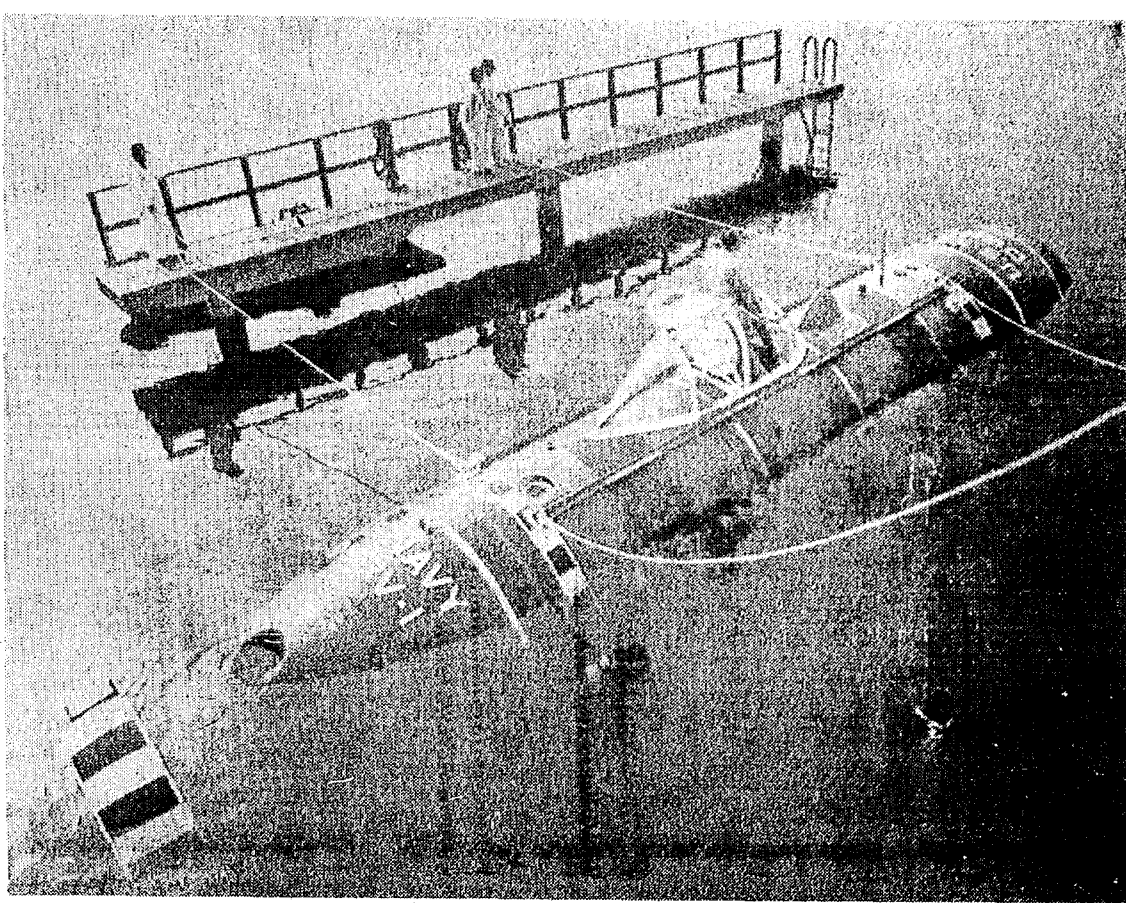

With their heartbeats at 150, up from a normal 84 for Shepard and 90 for Mitchell, ground controllers again told them to rest.

SAGGED DOWN

They stayed down against a boulder, and at this point were directed to go no farther.

"We can press on and make it," Mitchell pleaded. But the

A-PLANT DECISION NEAR

Conservationists May Have Victory

By TOM RENNER
South Haven Correspondent
SOUTH HAVEN — The chairman of the Michigan Public Service Commission said Friday that it is "reasonably certain" that Consumers Power company will have to install additional equipment at its $125 million Palisades nuclear plant in Covert township.

However, Willis F. Ward declined to specify what type of equipment may be added. Last week Ward told the Michigan Press Association that Consumers may spend up to $20 million for additional equipment at Palisades, but he did not elaborate.

POLLUTION FEARED

Conservationists opposing the company's efforts to obtain a license to operate the 700,000 kilowatt plant have argued before an Atomic Energy Commission licensing board that the utility should be required to install cooling devices before the plant begins operation.

They argue that cooling devices would prevent thermal pollution when the plant returns to Lake Michigan water used to cool machinery.

Consumers Power officials have insisted throughout the AEC hearing that no evidence has been presented that would indicate that warmed discharge water will cause thermal pollution. The Palisades plant will return water to Lake Michigan 28 degrees warmer than at the point of intake.

The AEC hearing, which has been underway since last June, was recessed in early December to allow attorneys for both Consumers and the conservationists to agree on the issues.

A company spokesman today told this newspaper that he expects a settlement to be reached in the near future.

"The pressures are such that we may be forced to install some kind of cooling devices," admitted Jack Dyer, public relations officer for the company.

"We still insist, however, that no evidence has been presented which shows that our plant will cause ecological damage, but we face a critical situation in providing electrical power to our customers without Palisades," Dyer added.

Dyer reported that Consumers generating facilities have "run flat out" during the recent cold wave and that the utility has been forced to purchase power from companies as far away as Toledo, Ohio, Chicago and Ontario to meet demands.

The Palisades plant would increase Consumers' generating capability 20 per cent.

Consumers Power could obtain rate increases to cover the expenses of additional equipment if needed to assure reasonable profits from the company's operations.

"Something is going to have to be done to get this plant producing," Ward insisted.

Sen. Percy Suddenly Taken Ill

CHICAGO (AP) — Sen. Charles Percy, R-Ill., was taken today to a hospital in suburban Evanston after being stricken aboard an airliner bound from Seattle, Wash., to Atlanta.

A spokesman at Evanston General Hospital in the north Chicago suburb said only that Percy was conscious and was being treated by his personal physician.

A secretary in Percy's Chicago office confirmed that the senator and his wife were enroute from Alaska to Washington D.C. and that Mrs. Percy planned to stop off in Chicago.

Sentenced On Gaming Charge

A Benton township man yesterday became the first to draw a penalty among 10 men indicted by a grand jury investigation of organized gambling in Berrien County.

Sebastian (John) DiBenedetto, 58, of 2026 Peterson drive was sentenced by Judge John T. Hammond to two years probation and assessed $750, split evenly between fine and costs.

DiBenedetto pleaded guilty Oct. 1 in Fifth District court to a high misdemeanor charge of taking bets on sporting events at various spots around the county late in 1969 and early 1970. The maximum possible penalty was a year imprisonment and $500 fine.

DiBenedetto originally was charged with a two-count felony of conspiring to violate state gambling laws but that was dismissed on motion of Assistant Prosecutor Wilbur Schilling.

Of the other nine indicted by the grand jury, two still await sentencing on their pleas of guilty. The remaining seven await district court trials. All are charged with bookmaking.

U.S. Action Protested

TOYO (AP) — About 1,500 Japanese marched peacefully in downtown Tokyo today to protest the "resumed" U.S. bombings over North Vietnam and expansion of aggression in Indo China.

BH RAID NETS BIG HAUL

Police of three twin cities agencies early this morning conducted a raid on an apartment at 33 Paw Paw avenue, Benton township, and confiscated about a half dozen plastic bags of substances believed to be marijuana and hashish, along with several guns and other items.

Berrien Sheriff's Det. Fred Reeves said no one was in the apartment when a half-dozen officers from Benton township and St. Joseph city police departments and the sheriff's office made the raid at 12:30 a.m.

Benton Harbor police at 1 a.m. stopped an auto at Water and Park streets, and sheriff's officers took custody of the driver, held in connection with the raid.

Arrested was Charles Albert Wagoner, 19, whose address was listed as 2630 Somerleyton road, or 933 Paw Paw. Wagoner was booked on charges of possession of narcotics and possession of stolen property.

Det. Reeves reported that Wagoner is employed by Piedt & Sons on M-139, which operates a gun sales department where eight guns, valued at $665, were reported stolen Thursday.

Det. Reeves said the Paw Paw avenue apartment was entered on a search warrant, issued by Berrien Prosecutor Ronald Taylor and signed by Fifth District Judge Harry Lait.

Reeves said items confiscated from the apartment included rifles, revolvers, boxes of ammunition, a hunting knife and binoculars. Also confiscated were the bags believed to contain narcotics and several pipes and cigarette paper.

GOOD NEWS FOR SOUTH HAVEN

Everett Will Keep Open!

SOUTH HAVEN — Good news came to South Haven Friday. It was announced that the community's third largest employer, the Everett Piano company, would continue in operation. The plant is to be sold to a New York-based holding company.

Meanwhile, Everett Piano company officials said today that laid-off employees who have been told to return to work next Monday should do just that.

"Announcement of the agreement between Hammond corporation and United Industrial Syndicate does not alter our intentions to have these employees return to their jobs," said president Charles Mulliken.

He added that idled employees who have not been told to report back to work should wait until they are notified to return.

For complete details on the change in fortunes for South Haven, see page 16.

More Rough Weather Hits Much Of State

From Associated Press

After two weeks of everything from crippling blizzard to a near flash-flood, Southwestern Michigan Friday escaped the full force of a new winter attack that clobbered much of the rest of the state.

Howling winds, freezing temperatures and blowing snow clobbered Michigan Friday, causing havoc on roads, power failures in many homes and at least one death.

The weatherman predicted little easing up for the weekend.

The Lower Peninsula can look for highs of only 10 to 23, winds of 20 to 40 miles an hour and snow flurries.

MORE DRIFTING

The Upper Peninsula should get weekend highs only in the teens, snow flurries and winds from 20 to 35 miles an hour, which promises even more drifting snow for inhabitants of the state's already snowbound upper sections.

Temperatures should hit lows of 3 to 10 above zero in the Lower Peninsula and of only 5 above to 5 below in the UP.

Police said Gerald Gaskell, 25, of Garden City, was killed Friday when high winds blew over a block wall at the site of a new addition to the Michigan

Bell building in Detroit.

Winds gusting to 56 miles an hour knocked down a young woman in downtown Wayne and scattered the $2,100 in receipts she was carrying to a bank next door. Police said her co-workers, shoppers and passerby dashed through the streets, picking up bills and at last count $30 had been recovered.

The clank and crunch of numerous fender-bender accidents could almost be heard from one end of the state to the other as gale force winds sucked blinding snow across roadways.

State Police blamed blinding snow and icy pavement for four multi-car collisions on I-75 south of Gaylord, one involving 29 cars and ten snowmobiles.

Twenty cars piled up near Petoskey on U. S. 131 and one person was reported seriously injured in an 11-car accident on M-66 in Ionia. Police said 124 cars were stalled for some time on M-32 east of Gaylord in a massive tieup after a road grader and a car collided.

No traffic fatalities have been reported.

The Otsego County Sheriff's Department in Gaylord provided overnight lodging in the county building for some 50 persons stranded by wind-driven snow and hazardous driving conditions.

Snow proved to be too much even for some winter sports. The International 500 Snowmobile race, scheduled to begin in Sault Ste. Marie today, was postponed to Sunday.

Several ski areas near Wakefield in the western Upper Peninsula closed down temporarily Friday when it became too difficult for prospective skiers to get to the slopes, according to Wakefield Police Chief Tony Valesano.

Uncle Sam To Be A

Loner On The

Measurements Range

A week from Monday which the U.S. will honor as George Washington's birthday even though the Gregorian calendar appoints February 22nd as his birth date, England officially goes to a decimalized currency.

The pound and the penny, a hundredth of the former, become the standard measures of value.

The pence and the shilling pass into history.

An entirely new generation of customers and shopkeepers may have to come along before the Britishers have pushed the old reckonings from their heads, but what Sir Christopher Wren, the noted cathedral architect, urged generations ago is moving to reality.

Following behind the currency decimalization is Whitehall's intention to shift England to the metric system of measurement by 1975.

Unless the plan is countermanded or substantially altered, this will leave the U.S. as the world's only exception to metrics.

A National Bureau of Standards study group is supposed to report to Congress this summer on the pros and cons of our America adopting the international standard.

The London Economist predicts American assumption of the International System of Units as inevitable.

For a decade following Cornwallis' surrender on the Yorktown, Va., peninsula, America continued to use the England's quaint currency denominations.

The coinage Act of 1792 changed the fledgling nation to the decimalized dollar.

England's expression in weight, volume and length continued on.

Early day American firearms makers, even in Colonial times, had started to express a rifle's capability in terms of its bore rather than the bullet's weight. This uniform drilling of the barrel's length in a certain number of hundredths of an inch produced a weapon superior to arms imported from England or the Continent.

Industry subsequently adapted its tooling to the decimalized inch and dropped the fractionated measurement.

However, we still buy milk by the pint, gallon or quart instead of the liter; we measure a carpet in feet and inches rather than by the meter; and we weigh the newest arrival in the family in ounces and pounds, not by the kilogram.

Americans have a fringe contact with the metric system. Army Ordnance for many years has scaled its artillery and rocket shells in millimeters, although the Navy stays with John Bull's inch sizing. Import automobiles and machinery are sized metrically. Some of the latter provides optional calibrating in the English system if the buyer pays an extra charge.

Converting to the metric system, as the British realize, is expensive. Probably the National Bureau of Standards experts can only guess how many billions would be required to change over.

It will also be a headache emotionally. Having to think and express oneself in new measurements will be the same as requiring the American who thinks in English to overnight think in French.

Imagine what effect it would exert to learn that the latest Miss America is 914.4-635-914.4 (the millimeter equivalent of that sought after divine 36-25-36 distribution).

As great a wrench the foregoing illustration may appear to the reader, time and circumstances seem to support The Economist's editors unless the U.S. builds a wall about itself.

England's coming abandonment of medieval measuring sticks will isolate our country in the world's markets. We shall have to design and produce by a standard in the tens to sustain our decimalized dollar.

Robbing Robin Hood

Debunking old legends has become something of a popular pastime. That is too bad because some of the old tales are the sort of dream stuff of which children's imaginations are made.

Maybe Cinderella never really existed, nor Alice in Wonderland, nor even Robin Hood. No Robin Hood? That is the discouraging word from Charles Wilkes, an English history buff who has spent years looking into this particular bit of folklore.

To begin with, says Wilkes, Robin was really Alfred de Huntingdon, a noble thrown out of his manor for rebelling against Henry II. Alf's escapades didn't come within 50 miles of Sherwood Forest, according to Wilkes, and it was the sheriff of Staffordshire, not Nottingham, who hounded him.

Furthermore, while Alf did rob the rich, there is no evidence he gave to the poor. As for the other characters in the legend, Will Scarlet, Little John or Friar Tuck, forget it. They didn't exist.

Obviously Wilkes' studies put him on the trail of the wrong outlaw. At least, that is what dreamers of all ages will continue to believe.

Making Thieves

Unhappy

No wonder so many sneak thieves are tempted. According to police, many citizens who would not think of leaving money lying around leave their cars unlocked, thus inviting petty pilferers to steal whatever they can find.

Some unlocked cars contain no packages, but they do have radios, cigarette lighters, ashtrays, and in the glove compartment various items.

Parcels and items of personal clothing are not the only loot a thief is after. He will take anything, literally, that isn't bolted down.

When articles are pilfered from locked cars, the police often lay the blame on the cars' owners who leave parcels and other possessions invitingly on the car seat instead of locking them in the trunk. Thieves spot the items and break or force windows to gain entry.

Even if an auto owner takes every conceivable precaution, he still isn't out of danger. He may have escaped the clutches of the thieves, but he still can fall victim to the vandals, those people who smash things for the joy of smashing.

They are the ones who bend car aerials, slash tires, and kick in a headlight or two. They're potentially more dangerous than the thieves.

Owning a car can be fun, especially after it's paid for. The enjoyment of ownership goes with the wind when society's delinquents have their way.

Extreme caution mixed with common sense can go far toward keeping them at bay. A locked car that has no inviting possessions on its seats may send a thief in search of easier prey.

Two large business developments for the St. Joseph area have been revealed.

Richard Ford, 2505 Niles avenue, announced today it would vacate its site to make room for a large new Citgo service station. Richard LeClair, president of Richard Ford, said his firm will move to a four acre site in south St. Joseph and build a 20,000 square foot facility there. The actual site and the date for the move are to be announced later.

.. And Speaking

Of Your Health

Pain is a lonely world. Those who constantly live with it can share only the expression of it, but the suffering is entirely your own.

A group of scientists are now devoting their attention exclusively to easing the suffering and misery of those whose lives revolve around constant pain.

Dr. Hubert L. Rosomoff, head of the Department of Neurological Surgery at the Albert Einstein College of Medicine, believes that the development of new types of surgery may indeed accomplish the relief of pain that so often fails with the drugs now available.

Dr. Rosomoff refers to the types of operations for the relief of pain as a form of "bloodless" surgery of the brain and spinal cord.

His imaginative concepts in practical and experimental studies are based on his firm belief that chronic suffering need not be an accepted way of life.

To achieve this objective, Dr. Rosomoff and his colleagues are studying pain from a physical and psychological point of view for a better understanding of pain and how it varies from person to person.

He has devised a series of ingenious operations which, in carefully chosen cases, have successfully brought welcome relief to those previously destined to a life of continued suffering.

I was privileged to witness his dedicated group of doctors as they relentlessly extended their talents to the needs of their patients.

My only distress was in finding that their scientific enthusiasm was not matched by the financial support necessary to maintain their program.

I know that those patients relieved of pain will join with me in the hope that Dr. Rosomoff and his colleagues will receive from governmental and private foundations the funds they need to carry on their work.

It is an accepted fact that when a person suffers a coronary heart attack, the faster treatment is started the better are his chances for recovery.

With this in mind, a complete mobile coronary emergency automobile has been in use in Belfast, North Ireland.

Dr. A. A. Adgey and Dr. J. F. Pantridge, of the Royal Victoria Hospital, have been able to begin intensive treatment on coronary patients within the first hour after the attack begins.

The "coronary" ambulance has all the life-saving equipment that might be found in the intensive care units of most hospitals.

Many lives have already been saved by this original idea.

INSIDE RELIGION

Athletic Religion Is

Thriving On Gridirons

By REV. LESTER KINSOLVING

"Your Son is our quarterback and You are our coach," prayed Miami's Catholic Archbishop Coleman F. Carroll, while delivering the invocation for the Miami Dolphins - Atlanta Falcons football game.

"We sometimes get blitzed by heavy sorrows or red-dogged by Satan," continued the Archbishop, "teach us to run the right patterns in our life so that we will truly make a touchdown one day through the heavenly gates, as the angels and saints cheer us on from the sidelines."

(In reporting this notable invocation, The National Catholic Reporter added: "And when that final gun goes off, dear Lord, lead us out of the parking lot of life through the interchange of Purgatory, on the freeway into Heaven, with our fenders undented and our spirits undaunted and our metaphors untangled, Amen.")

What might be called "athletic religion" has been thriving on the gridiron ever since the opening decades of this century when the late Alvin (Bo) McMillan led his "Praying Colonels" from tiny and obscure Center College in Kentucky to a miraculous upset over (then) mighty Harvard.

And recently the Protestant monthly Christian Herald ran a book ad which featured a photograph of a former Baltimore Colt above the caption: "MEET DON SCHINICK, THE CHRISTIAN." What it's like to lead a Christian life in the fast-paced, violent life of pro football.

"Always A Winner" (the title of the book) shows how an established professional athlete can use his unique position to contribute so much to God's Kingdom.

Not to be outdone by either Maryland or football, Gloucester, Massachusetts' Open Church Foundation offers (at $1 per hundred) copies of "Lifting For The Lord," in which weight lifter Paul Anderson expresses pride not only in being "the strongest man in the world" but in being a Christian as well. (Commented the Protestant weekly Christian Century: "Don't challenge him — you might end up with a Rupture For Religion!")

In Oregon, The Portland State Vikings recently played a

"Hoop Game to Woo Portlanders to Christ" — while religion is similarly and regularly utilized to sanctify every recreation from Virginia fox-hounds to prizefighters. (Although one pugilist, who was in the habit of crossing himself in full view just before the bell, was somewhat aced when a Moslem opponent laid out a prayer rug in his corner and faced Mecca.)

One of the most masterful and durable utilizations of athletic religion was accomplished, appropriately, by "The Breakfast of Champions." Employed under the banner was a bona fide clergyman (and Olympic champion pole vaulter) who gobbled Wheaties and did pushups on TV.

The Rev. Bob Richards, an ordained minister of the Church of The Brethren, was also one of the founders of an organization called The Fellowship of Christian Athletes.

For 13 years the wholesome and beaming visage of the Rev. Mr. Richards adorned Wheaties packages and TV spots. His unforgettable smile was described by sportswriter Ron Fimrite as "The Man With Ten Thousand Teeth."

DISAGREES

Yet "The Flying Parson" or "The Vaulting Vicar" is no longer promoting Wheaties even though he emphatically disagrees with a recent consultant's report that this cereal is 29th on a list of breakfast cereals in which only the top nine are nutritionally meritorious. Consequently, Fimrite asked, "Can the Rev. Bob honestly tell us he owes his muscles to a daily bowl of nothing?"

The break with Wheaties came over the Rev. Bob's recent jog-and-bike-across-the-nation trip. "We could have done it in 30 days," he notes, "but they demanded 78 days; and my idea of a fun summer is not 78 nights in motels!"

Furthermore, The Rev. Bob has now reached the post-champion age of 44. He is also at odds with and no longer in the parochial ministry of his denomination. ("The Brethren are pacifist and liberal — I'm not.")

The Rev. Bob is now a lecturer and filmmaker who describes his vocation thusly: "I motivate people; with sports stories and witness to my Christian faith. I prefer the larger groups. I don't like the pastoral ministry which is an endless round of committee meetings and visiting sick people. Pastors should get out of their pulpits and into sports."

It is certainly no great revelation to state that each player is dealt 13 cards. But while the expert never allows himself to forget this, the less experienced player fails time and again to capitalize on this self-evident fact.

South is in six notrump and wins the club ten with the ace. All the tricks seem to be there for the taking, but when he leads the ace of diamonds West shows out, and when he then plays the A-K of spades West shows out again.

The odds against such a development are truly astronomical, but if South keeps his cool he can overcome the hudding catastrophe. He simply calls into service the knowledge that East was dealt 13 cards. He already knows that 10 of those cards consist of 5 diamonds and 5 spades.

Declarer does not have to be an Einstein to know that East was dealt 3 cards in hearts and clubs. One of them, a club, has already appeared.

All that South now has to do is remove East's two remaining odd cards and end play him. There can be no doubt of the outcome because East's hand is virtually an open book.

So declarer cashes the K-Q of clubs, which forces East to discard a heart, for otherwise South would make 13 tricks.

Next he cashes his high diamonds and throws East in with a diamond, compelling East to return a spade from the 10-8-7 into dummy's Q-J-9.

State Education
Department Probe
Is Requested

Mrs. Helen Ford, director of Tri-CAP, has suggested to the State Department of Education that it investigate the "In-System, Inc." has been contracting agency in operating manpower training programs for the education department.

C-MEDS (Cooperative Manpower Economic Development System, Inc.) has been conducting training classes with state education department funds for the department of vocational rehabilitation, and also for the Michigan Employment Security Commission.

PAYMENT CANCELLED

Mrs. Ford made the suggestion in a letter to Dr. John W. Porter, state superintendent of public instruction, after her office had received a letter from the education department cancelling payment for one "student never attended" the class.

The state education department's letter, dated Jan. 27, said payment for an Earnest Johnson was cancelled because he "never attended" the class.

"I have been quite concerned since the program's inception," Mrs. Ford wrote to Dr. Porter, "about actual class attendance, and other improper activities in the classroom. This program (C-MEDS) was taking space from us, and we often observed classes of four or five students while 12 to 15 students were enrolled."

"There had been some question locally about D.V.R. (Department of Vocational Rehabilitation) and M.E.S.C. (Michigan Employment Security Commission) clients being 'enrolled,' yet not attending classes."

Also in her letter, Mrs. Ford said:

"The C-MEDS board is made up of ex-employees and ex-board members of Tri-CAP who have reason to be glad if the Tri-CAP agency is closed. It will make their debt of over $20,000 invalid. The O.E.O. investigation division is quite concerned about this missing money."

"It may be necessary for your office to investigate whether or not this new organization has the integrity required by law to continue as contractors. Tri-CAP hopes you will give very serious consideration to this matter."

C-MEDS is headed by Clarence T. Richards, a community service specialist for Lake Michigan College. Richards was removed as treasurer of the Tri-CAP board last September and was dismissed from Tri-CAP's nominating committee in January.

Richards filed a $24,000 libel and slander suit against Mrs. Ford last September for statements attributed to her in news stories carried in the South Bend Tribune and Television Station WSBT-TV of South Bend. The suit is in Berrien circuit court.

Robert Rumney, who was fired as director of Tri-CAP's Neighborhood Youth Corps program last year, is executive director of C-MEDS.

C-MEDS currently conducts its classes on Lake Michigan college's old campus in Benton Harbor.

Would Kill Legislator's Dental Plan

LANSING (AP) — A state representative said Friday he will move to pull the House out of a dental plan that allows legislators to collect insurance payments on 80 per cent of their dental bills and 50 per cent of orthodontist bills for their children at taxpayer expense.

Rep. Thomas G. Sharp (R-Howell) said he will introduce a resolution Monday to cancel the Delta Dental Plan of Michigan, which costs taxpayers some $30,209 a year.

The dental plan was agreed to in a House Policy Committee meeting Dec. 16 during a flurry of year-end business. Voting records show seven members of the policy committee unani-

Temporary Auto Plate Office Being Planned

WATERVLIET — A temporary office to handle sale of auto plates is to be established here Feb. 13, Gordon Bennett, manager of the South Haven branch of the secretary of state's office, announced Friday.

The temporary office will be set up at the Rogel motor sales showroom. It will be open from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Waterliet area auto owners are invited to take advantage of the "extension" office, Bennett said.

He said owners need proof of personal and property damage liability insurance coverage, and either their "certificate of title," or the computer - prepared registration application to buy plates.

Chicanos Are Not Prosecuted

Tri-CAP Trespass
Charges Dropped

Trespassing charges against 14 Spanish-Americans arrested at Tri-CAP headquarters last November have been dismissed in Fifth District court, Benton Harbor.

Assistant City Attorney Roger V. Bittner requested the dismissals of Judge Harry A. Lally because Mrs. Helen Ford, Tri-CAP executive director, no longer wishes to press charges.

PROTESTING FIRING

The 14 were arrested without incident by Benton Harbor police on Nov. 18 when they attempted a sit-in at the Tri-County Community Action Program, offices, 720 East Main street. They said they were protesting the firing of one Chicano employee and the transfer of another.

In arraignments the next day, all 14 pleaded innocent to trespassing and were released on $100 bond each. Their trial was set for Thursday.

Dismissed upon court costs of $20 each were charges against Gilbert Anzaldúa, 25, of Mattawan; Guadalupe Gonzales, 35, of Goshen, Ind.; Miguel Uriegas, 25, of Hartford; Olga Rose Villa, 28, of Norton Shores; Thomas Martinez, 36, of Grand Rapids; Martin R. Morales, 42, of Grand Rapids; Guillermo Dominguez, 26, of Mattawan.

Lisandra E. Saez, 17, of Hartford; Samuel R. Salinas, 35, of Cassopolis; Abel C. Rosales, 44, of Cassopolis; Fidel Garcia Pizana, 29, of Mount Pleasant; Eugenio M. Aleman, 46, of South Haven; Amelia E. Rojas, 20, of Hartford; and Francisca M. Maya, 46, of Hartford.

mously agreed on a vote to direct the House Clerk to negotiate the insurance contract.

"I think this is a ridiculous situation that a resolution of this magnitude gets by the legislature under the guise of allowing the House Policy Committee to establish 1971 rules," Sharp said.

"I didn't know anything about it until yesterday. I don't think the committee members even knew what they were doing."

Registration Open At 'Y'

The Twin City YMCA announces that registration is open for new classes in swimming and gymnastics.

Swimming instruction is being offered—children from four years old and up and adults. The adult classes are held Tuesdays and Thursdays, 6:45-7:30 p.m. Jan Edwards, swimming director, said students are not tied to a strict class schedule and can learn at their own pace—from beginning swimming to butterfly.

Gymnastics classes will meet Monday and Wednesday, 3:45-5 p.m., starting Feb. 8. They are intended for boys and girls and a gym show will be held for parents at the end of the program in April.

Instructor Stan Detweiler of Andrews university said new tumbling mats and a new mini-trampoline are in use. Cost is $5 for the nine-week course.

Registration for both swimming and gymnastics can be made at the Y office, 233 Michigan street, Benton Harbor.

Openings

There are still openings in adult education classes at St. Joseph high school.

Registrations are being taken for cake decorating, sewing, furniture refinishing and interior decorating, also drafting and blueprint reading and advance typing.

Telephone Firm Tells Improvement Expenses

SOUTH HAVEN — General Telephone company has announced it spent some $2,166,000 during 1970 on expanded services and improvement in its districts in Allegan, Van Buren and Cass counties.

Robert Randall of the company's public relations office in Muskegon said most of this money was spent on new lines and equipment.

A breakdown of the expenditures in each district shows: $500,000 in the Allegan district which covers Allegan and parts of Van Buren; $745,000 for improvements in the Dowagiac district which covers Cass county and parts of Van Buren and $920,000 for the South Haven district, covering the remainder of Van Buren.

All three districts are part of the firm's southern division at Three Rivers where Randall said total expenditures amounted to $6.3 million.

The company's statewide program expenses totaled some $32.6 million last year.

General serves 486 communities located in 61 of the state's 83 counties. Randall reported there were 83,983 telephones in the southern division during 1970.

Model Cities Signs Former Tiger Champ

John Rudley To Watch Purse Strings

A star player on the 1964 and 1965 Benton Harbor high school Class A state championship basketball teams is one of two new staff members approved for the Benton Harbor-Benton township Model Cities Program.

John Rudley, 23, has been approved by both the Model Cities Council and the Citizens Steering Council (CSC) for the position of staff accountant according to Ben Davis, program director.

Also joining the staff is Miss Paula Caruthers, 23, of Duncan, Okla., who will serve as the program's evaluation coordinator.

Davis said Rudley's salary is $11,000 and Miss Caruthers' is $10,500.

IMPORTANT TASK

Rudley's position involves doing an accounting analysis of the operating agencies for all Model Cities projects, to see that they meet the requirements of the federal department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD).

Rudley will work in conjunction with Ronald Momany, Benton Harbor finance director, who has been designated fiscal agent for Model Cities by the Model Cities council.

Rudley grew up in the model neighborhood and still resides with his family at 161 Quince drive in Benton township. His family moved to the area from St. Louis, Mo., when he was 12. He attended Bard elementary school before entering Benton Harbor high school.

Rudley was a 5-10, 150-pound playmaker and co-captain of the undefeated 1965 basketball team under coach Don Farum. That team included L.C. Bowen, Donald Lewis, Mike Pollard, Dave Mack, and Tony Ashman — and it is considered perhaps the greatest team in Michigan high school history.

As a senior on the 1965 state championship team, Rudley averaged 17.3 points per game and was chosen outstanding athlete of the year at Benton Harbor high school. He also made the Associated Press All-State team.

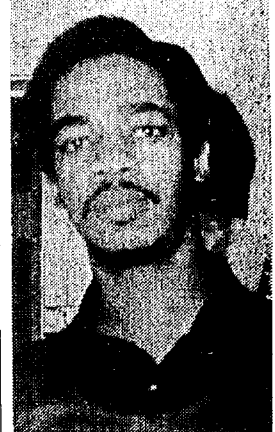

Rudley went to Toledo university on an athletic scholarship and played basketball for four years. He also achieved an outstanding academic record.

MOST VALUABLE

Rudley was elected most valuable player at TU his junior year. The next season he was co-captain and named to the second team all-Mid-American conference.

He received a bachelor's degree in business administration and started graduate work. He plans to continue graduate studies here. Last summer, he was on loan to the Toledo Model Cities as a research analyst and fiscal control officer.

Miss Caruthers will be program coordinator for the 13 Model Cities project. Her position requires evaluation of the projects to determine their contributions to the success of the program. She will also be responsible for collecting information to be used in planning.

She graduated from East Central State college, Ada, Okla., in the spring of 1969 with a bachelor of arts degree in history and sociology.

HEALTH PLANNER

Miss Caruthers was a health planner with the Southern Oklahoma Development Assn., in Ardmore from June to November 1969 and then taught for five months in a federally funded migrant program in Edinburg, Tex.

In May of 1969, Miss Caruthers was hired by the Edinburg Model Cities Program as an information specialist in charge of developing an information system to assess the model city programs.

The two new staff members bring the Model City Agency staff to six, including Ben Davis, program director, and Mel Farmer, Jr., human resources coordinator. Three program planners and one evaluation assistant are yet to be hired, according to Farmer.

Firestone To Recall Tires

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — The Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. has announced the recall of tires installed as original equipment on 26,000 1970 and 1971 Ford Maverick automobiles built in St. Thomas, Ont.

Firestone said some of the tires may develop a localized flexing in the sidewall area, resulting in a rapid loss of air and possible difficulty in vehicle handling.

His Job Has Teeth In It!

Benton Harbor GI Works
In Dental Lab

Napoleon said "An Army travels on its stomach." But most troops wouldn't go very far if they were confined to diets of liquids and mush.

GIs are assured of chewing the toughest steak when their denture problems come to the attention of Staff Sgt. Joe L. Dowdy, a former Benton Harborite, non-commissioned officer in charge of the Army dental laboratory at Aberdeen, Md.

Dowdy's five-man staff handles nearly 125 orders a week for new dentures or improvements to plates. Army men all along the eastern seaboard are clients of the dental lab for two reasons: the work is 'highly professional, and it's free as is all military medical assistance. A full denture can represent a $500 investment in civilian life.

Some of the raw materials for the dental lab staff are wax, plastic, gold and platinum. These are ingredients that go into prosthetics, the products of the dental lab technician.

Sgt. Dowdy, 35, began his career in prosthetics 14 years ago at the Army's regional dental lab in St. Louis. His total Army service is 17 years.

A graduate of Benton Harbor high school, Dowdy attended Western Michigan university before entering the service. He is the son of Mrs. Walter Dowdy, 242 Walnut avenue, Benton township.

Dowdy and his wife, Mattie, a native of Grand Rapids, have three daughters.

Group Gets Control Of Du-Wel Stock

BANGOR—Acquisition of 92 per cent stock of Du-Wel Metal Products company here by its executives and other supervisory personnel has been completed.

The group, headed by David Walton, president of the firm, began the process in November after a Tennessee firm owning the stock was ordered to sell it by a federal court overseeing bankruptcy proceedings. Involved were 113,500 shares at a cost of $1.6 million.

The court proceedings involved Whale incorporated, Nashville, which had acquired control of Du-Wel about two years before in a $3 million cash transaction. The proceedings resulted, Walton said, because of financial problems encountered by the firm.

Man Offered Help; Then Struck; Robbed

A Benton Harbor man, Lee Stokes, 78, told police he was struck and knocked down in the garage of his home at 421 Lincoln by two men who stole his wallet, with identification papers and $73.95, after they offered to help him move his auto.

Stokes told police the two tried unsuccessfully to help him get his auto out of a snowdrift in the driveway. Stokes said he then walked into the garage where he was attacked. Police said Stokes was treated at Mercy hospital for a head cut.

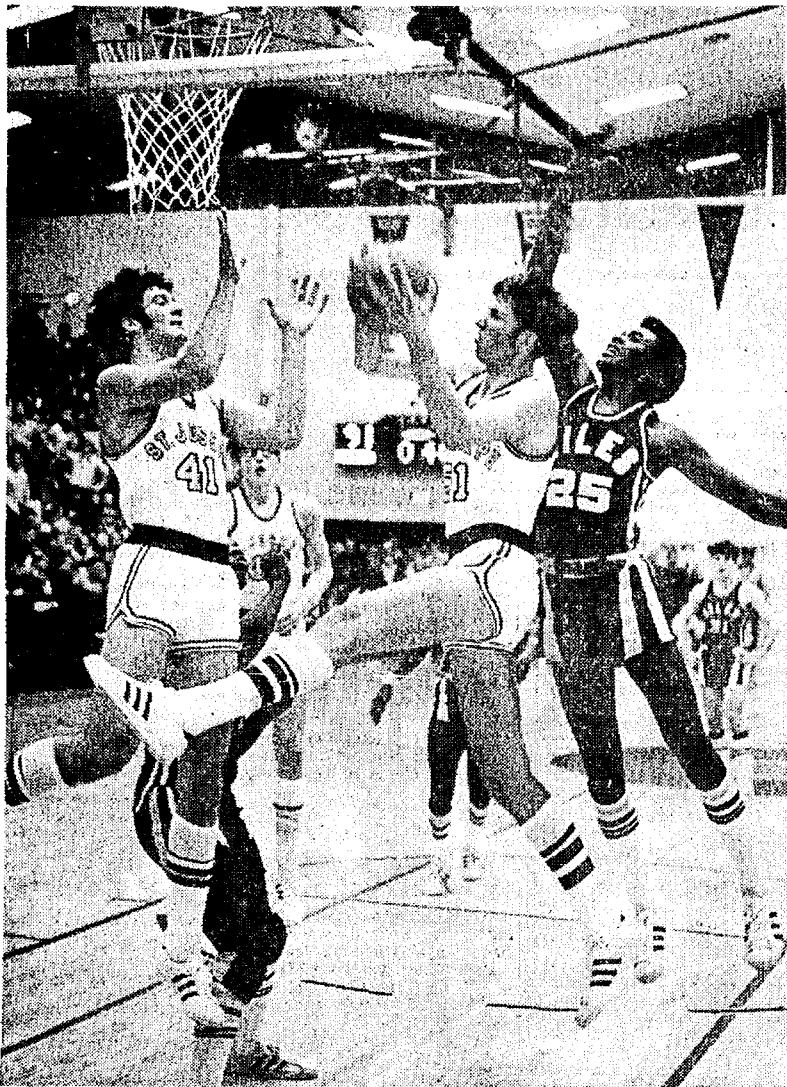

The assailants were described as about 20 or 21 years old. One was reported to be about 5 feet, 8 inches tall, while the other was described as about 5 feet, 11 inches tall. Both were black.

Bears Win Biggie, Bump Sixth-Ranked Niles

No. 1 Chant Ignites St. Joseph Rally

By JAKE SHUBINSKI
Staff Sports Writer

The chant of Niles' basketball fans among the 3,000 persons in the St. Joseph gym Friday night that "We're No. 1" proved to be a little premature.

With 2:10 left in the game and the Vikings leading by an 89-85 score, those three little words came loud and clear from the Niles' cheering section.

The racket so incensed the Bears that they proceeded to score the next 10 points and register a 95-92 victory over the visitors in as wild a game as was ever played on the Stadium Drive hardwood.

"We won a biggie," said a jubilant St. Joseph coach George Gaundier as most of the Bears were carried from the floor on the shoulders of their fans who poured onto the court when the final horn sounded.

The victory ended a 17-game Niles Big Six victory string and it was the first loss in 12 games for the Vikings this season — and will do their No. 6 class A rating no good at all.

The 187 points scored by the two teams established a new combined scoring record for a game in which the Bears were involved. The old mark was 185 totaled in a 98-87 loss to Dowagiac on Jan. 22, 1965. Sixty two of Friday night's points came in the final period.

There were many "turning points" in the game when either team could have broken the game wide open. But the one that seemed to give the Bears the spark they needed came with 1:40 to play.

At that point, the Vikings

Lakeshore, Lakers Win Pages 14-15

enjoyed an 89-87 lead and were in a position to make the Bears foul to get the ball. But the Vikings lost the ball on a three-second call and with 1:15 left, Scott Marutz rebounded to tie the count at 89-89.

In the next 55 seconds, another basket by Marutz, who spent most of the night on the bench in foul trouble, a 15-footer by Paaky Ryan and a pair of free throws by Yogi Mort gave the Bears a 95-89 lead.

Niles' last three points were more or less gifts. The clock showed no time left in the game when Louis Garner was fouled. But after some heated words between the officials and the coaches and a check with the timer, the clock was set back to one second.

Garner got his first shot, then missed his second. John James had just enough time to tap the ball in on the rebound for the final points.

Niles coach Dean Adams' statement that "we had plenty of opportunities" to win the game held true for both teams.

The score was tied three times and the lead changed hands seven times in the first period before the Vikings, on the outcourt shooting of Craig Riley and Garner, rolled into a 26-19 lead at the first rest stop.

During the period, Niles hit 10 of 18 shots from long range as the Bears' "match-up" zone defense kept the Vikings from under the basket. Meantime, the Bears hit only seven of 20 attempts on shots that were either rushed or fired at too long a range.

The Vikings appeared on their way to a one-sided triumph when James hit a rebounder for a 32-21 lead 65 seconds deep in the second period.

The Bears then started taking better shots that started falling as two baskets by Mort and one each by Craig Zupke and Ryan narrowed the gap to 32-29. A pair of free throws by John Gorton tied the score at 36-36 and the two teams remained deadlocked at 42-42 at the intermission.

From there, the Bears moved into a 53-46 lead midway of the third period at which time Adams called for a zone press. The press caused some problems at the outset, but the Bears still held a 59-52 lead with almost three minutes left in the quarter.

The press helped the Vikings to battle back and tie the count at 61-61 late in the period. A basket by Mort and a free throw by Ryan as a result of a technical foul called against Garner for face guarding on an inbounds play gave St. Joseph a 64-61 lead as the final period started.

Early in the period, the Bears enjoyed a 71-63 lead, but again the press brought the Vikings back to within one point with five minutes to play.

Another one of those "turning points" came midway of the period when another technical gave the Bears a 79-74 lead. The fifth foul on Rick Karnes had the T-sign added to it and Ryan hit all three shots.

The Vikings were able to overcome this, however, and came back to tie the count at 83-83 and set the stage for the final wild three minutes.

The name of the game for the Vikings was "James." The leaping forward scored 27 points and took 21 rebounds as the Vikings took the boards by a 41-34 margin.

"We seemed to get the rebounds when we needed them," observed Gaundier. Marutz and Gorton had eight each for the Bears.

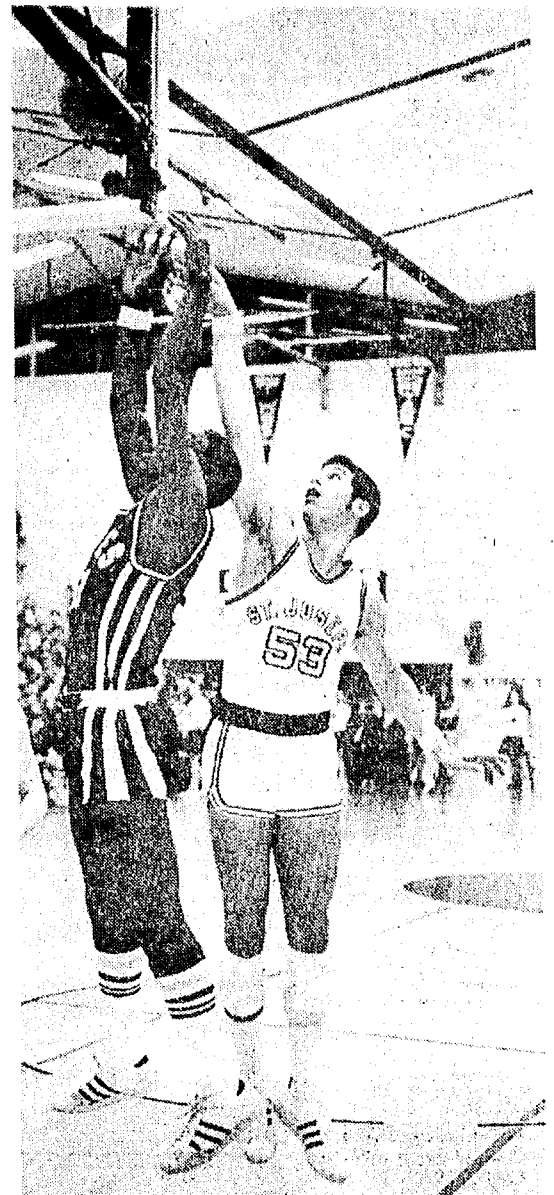

The Bears, who usually stick to a man-to-man defense, used the match-up extensively for the first time. "We had to find a way to keep our big men under the basket and at the same time try to keep Niles outside," said Gaundier.

As for the press, Gaundier felt the Bears played "too much defense against it. We didn't attack it too well," he declared.

"I hope our boys learned something here tonight," said Adams. "A defeat never helped anybody, but it will take some of the pressure off."

The Bears recovered from their cold first period to post their best shooting percentage of the year by hitting on 37 of 70 shots for a .529 mark. Niles was good on 35 of 74 for a .467 mark.

Three Bears scored 20 points or more. Mike Knuth led the

Cloud, Bangor Flying High

Walt's 44 Points Puts Vikings In Lead

By BILL MOORE
Staff Sports Writer

BANGOR — Bangor had a big night here Friday, but it wasn't quite as big as Walt Cloud's.

The Vikings took over first place in the KVA conference race with a 70-64 win over Parchment, but it was Cloud who stole the show by scoring a career high 44 points and grabbing off 26 rebounds.

The 6-6 junior center, who was averaging 24 points a game going into Friday's play, missed tying the Vikings' school scoring record by one point. His brother Tim holds the mark with 45.

Cloud's 44 came on 17 of 29 shots from the floor and 10 of 15 free throws. He scored 18 of the points in the second period and 16 in the fourth. His previous high game was 38 points.

But even with Cloud's tremendous scoring show, Bangor had to rely on some clutch fourth quarter free throw shooting to get by the Panthers. In fact, the Vikings won the game at the charity lines.

Parchment held a 27-26 advantage from the field, but Bangor led 18 to 10 from the stripe, including 13 the final quarter.

"It was really tight all the way," said Viking Coach Norm Johnson, who upped his league mark to 6-1, while winning his eighth straight. "We opened up a couple of times late in the game but they just kept coming back."

The game was a tight one. The score was tied 11 times, including six in the second half, and the lead changed hands seven times.

"I think the thing that really made the difference was that we were able to handle their press," said Johnson. "We really improved on it since the first time we played them. Tonight it didn't give us many problems."

Besides slipping past Parchment for the league lead, the win also gave Bangor revenge for its only loss this season. The Panthers won the first game, 70-62. The Vikings, ranked 13th in the state, are now 11-1 overall.

"The conference is really looking great," said Johnson. "I sure didn't expect us to be alone at the top at this point. In fact, I would have been really happy if we could have tied for the championship. Now we are in great shape to win the whole thing."

Parchment made the Vikings fight for every inch of that "great shape." After racing neck and neck early in the first quarter, Parchment scored seven straight points and held a 19-15 edge at the end of the period. Then Cloud got hot, hitting eight of 10 shots from the field and two of three from the free throw line, to put Bangor in front 35-34 with 1:15 left in the half. A Parchment free throw with one second remaining tied the score at 37-37.

Parchment had a chance to pull away in the third period with 11 attempts from the free throw line. But it could come up with only two points via the charities, while both teams were having their trouble from the field, canning only four field goals each.

The Panthers led 47-45 going into the final period.

State Finals To Be Aired

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — For the seventh time in eight years, WZZM-TV, of Grand Rapids has been granted the right to originate telecasts of the four Michigan high school basketball championship games.

The station said it will begin telecasting the March 27 title games at 11:30 a.m. The Class B contest will be shown first, then Classes D and C before the Class A match winds up the schedule at 8:30 p.m.

Bub Dustman, the station's news sports director, will handle the play-by-play with news director Jack Hogan providing commentary. Ray Hozer will handle interviews.

Cloud scored seven straight points to put Bangor ahead 52-49 with 5:13 remaining. The score was tied at 53 and 55, then Bangor went ahead 60-55 on a field goal and free throw by Cloud and a goal by Mike Dinkins.

The Vikings scored their final eight points from the free throw line to keep Parchment from taking back the lead. The final score was the widest margin of the game.

Mike Dinkins was the only other Viking to hit double figures with 14 points. He also brought down 15 rebounds as Bangor grabbed off 64 for the game.

"Gamble (Ron) and Parker (John) did a great job off the bench for us," said Johnson. "Merriman (Doug) and Hinton (Mike) were in foul trouble and they came off and did a fine job."

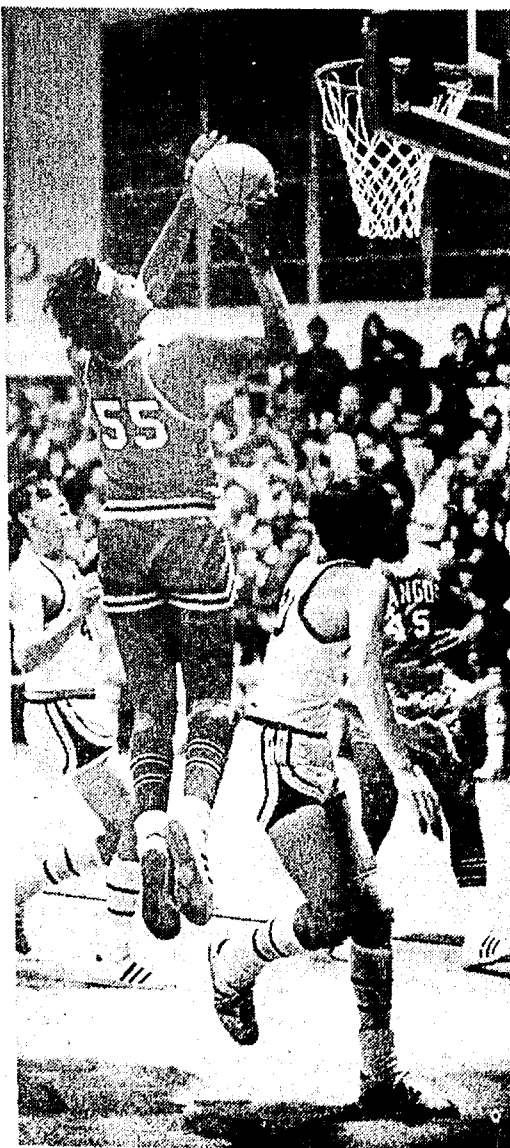

Parchment ended with four players hitting double figures, led by Dan Hensen with 18. Mark Jackson finished with 14, Rick Magnan with 12 and Matt Tlima with 11.

Bangor's 26 field goals came on 61 shots (42.6), while the Panthers were hitting 27 of 76 (35.6). The Vikings hit 18 of 33 (54.5) from the free throw line with Parchment canning 10 of 23 (43.4).

The loss drops the Panthers to 5-2 in league play in 6-6 for the year.

Bangor's fourth quarter rally fell short in the jayvee game, with Parchment taking a 68-67 win. Jeff Allen led Bangor with 20 points, followed by Dan Carpenter with 13, Chuck Emmert with 11 and Ken Tubbs with 10.

Buck Record By Zdenahlik

45-Point Spree Whips Cass In Overtime

BUCHANAN — A record-breaking 45-point scoring spree by Dave Zdenahlik of Buchanan powered the Bucks to a 91-87 overtime victory over Cassopolis in a crucial Blossomland conference basketball battle here Friday night.

The 6-2 junior, who carried a 19.6 average into the key contest, hit 18 of 30 field goal attempts and 9 of 15 free throws to crack the previous Buchanan school record of 38 by Tom Pelkey in 1962. Pelkey went on to play college ball at Central Michigan and now coaches at St. Louis, Mich.

Zdenahlik, who also recorded the second-highest single game performance in a Blossomland history (Berrien Springs' Denny Rusch had 50 last season), netted 42 in regulation time Friday as the championship contenders battled to a 70-70 tie. He added three more in the overtime, where teammate Ron Aalfs set the pace with six tallies.

"It was beautiful," commented Buchanan coach Don Rembach on the record, "but we hadn't planned anything special. In fact, I didn't realize he had that many until after the game."

"He faked and drove around them for some baskets, and when they sagged back, he hit from outside. We had sort of planned to work it into (Tom) Hassan, and then shoot from outside when they sagged."

Guard Harlan Vastine added 16 to the Buchanan cause, while Aalfs finished up with 13.

Cassopolis ace Larry Croom, also a junior, meshed 27 while missing part of the second quarter with an ankle injury. He had it taped at halftime and returned to score 12 points in the fourth quarter and four more in the overtime.

Bill Hawthorne came through with 23 points, before fouling out in the fourth quarter, and Ramauld Hawthorne and John Anderson chipped in with 11 and 10, respectively.

Buchanan is now a half-game behind league-leading Lakeshore in the Blossomland race at 6-1. The Bucks are 7-4 overall, while Cassopolis is 5-2 in the conference and 6-5 on the season.

NEWS IN BRIEF

S. Viet Soldiers Beat Back Attack

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese forces sweeping through eastern Cambodia encountered a battle-tested North Vietnamese unit today and reported 91 enemy killed in one of the biggest battles since the allies crossed the Cambodian border last May. South Vietnamese headquarters said one prisoner and 27 weapons were captured, and 10 South Vietnamese troops were killed and 37 wounded. The fight was triggered early today when North Vietnamese troops from the 9th Division used mortars and ground troops against the command post of a South Vietnamese task force near the Chup Rubber Plantation east of Kompong Cham. Behind allied air and artillery support, the South Vietnamese tanks, armored personnel carriers and 400 rangers repulsed the attackers before dawn, the command said.

Cease-Fire Enters 2nd Extension

The Middle East cease-fire entered its second extension today as pressure increased on Israel to comply with an Egyptian proposal for a partial pullback of Israeli troops from the Suez Canal. There was concern at the United Nations in New York that a refusal by Premier Golda Meir's government would deadlock indirect peace negotiations being conducted by mediator Gunnar V. Jarring. Diplomatic sources said France and the Soviet Union were pressing hard for acceptance. The withdrawal was a condition set Thursday by President Anwar Sadat of Egypt to reopening the Suez, closed since the 1967 war when Israel occupied the Sinai Desert to the canal's banks.

North Ireland On Verge Of Civil War

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Religious rioting threatened to erupt into civil war in Northern Ireland today after a British soldier and two Irishmen were killed in a shootout between British troops and members of the outlawed Irish Republican Army. Another civilian blew himself up when a bomb he was about to throw exploded. The three hours of fighting began in Belfast's Roman Catholic district shortly after midnight and was one of the worst outbreaks in two years of strife between the Catholic minority and Protestants in the British province. The IRA is trying to drive the British from the six northern counties and bring them under the predominantly Catholic Irish Republic.

Appalachian Governors Oppose U.S. Plan

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. (AP) — A conference of governors from 13 Appalachian states says the Appalachian Regional Commission should continue after federal revenue sharing with state and local government begins. The White House has announced plans to end the federally financed and coordinated commission in one more year, allowing the states to continue the work with federal-state shared revenue. But the governors Friday said such a move would ruin the rural-based program aimed at upgrading local economies of the mountainous Appalachian states.

Romney Reinstates Mortgage Subsidies

WASHINGTON (AP) — A portion of the government's mortgage subsidy program — 40 per cent of which was suspended three weeks ago — has been reinstated by George Romney, secretary of Housing and Urban Development. Just 21 of HUD's area and Federal Housing Administration offices are being allowed to resume issuance of mortgage commitments on existing housing, Romney said Friday. He stopped the program in many areas after it was said by the House Banking and Currency Committee to be moving into the hands of land speculators.

Peace Group Demands Oil Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee is being bombarded with demands to investigate alleged connections between American interest in South Vietnamese oil and U.S. support of the Thieu government. The committee has received 2,500 letters in the first stage of a campaign by a California-based peace group, Another Mother for Peace, to generate one million letters by March 1. As a result, the committee has asked the State Department about all aspects of the Saigon government's oil policies. No reply has been received. However, State Department officials say no oil has been found in South Vietnam or off its coast but the Saigon government, interested in promoting exploration in the wake of oil discoveries elsewhere in southern Asia, recently passed a law setting out operating procedures for oil companies.

Angela Files For Dismissal

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (AP) — Black militant Angela Davis has filed for dismissal of murder, kidnap and conspiracy charges against her, and the case will be heard next month by a judge from a county that has no Negro population. In 200 pages of legal motions filed Friday, Miss Davis, a 27-year-old avowed Communist and a former UCLA professor, asserted that the grand jury that indicted her received no evidence she committed any crime. The charges stemmed from a shootout between police and three convicts and an accomplice trying to flee a courtroom. Four persons were killed. Miss Davis is accused of plotting an attempt to free the prisoners and take hostages.

Rescue Minibus Tested

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — The Navy says its first rescue minibus has demonstrated it can locate a submarine trapped underwater, lock onto it and pluck its crew to safety. The $41 million deep-submergence rescue vehicle, known as DSRV-1, performed the crucial tests this week at a depth of more than 150 feet off San Clemente Island, the Navy reported Friday. "This is a major step forward as the ability of the sub to spot and mate with a stranded submarine is the key element in the Navy's global rescue system," a Navy spokesman said.

NEW MEXICO

Ex-Governor Fighting To Keep Moon Rocks

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP) — Gov. Bruce King and his predecessor, David Cargo, are in a dispute over who owns the moon rocks presented to Cargo by President Nixon. Cargo took them when he left office Dec. 31 and won't return them. King said Friday he has asked the former governor to bring them back because, "I think they belong to the state."

"He didn't leave a doggone King, a Democrat, said, pointing to a carved bird in the barren office."

Cargo, a Republican, responded from his new Santa Fe law office: "Those rocks were presented to me, not him. I can do whatever I want with them. The President gave them to me. If I want to give them to the museum, I damned well can."

Cargo said he has been thinking about presenting them to the Museum of New Mexico. In dispute are two or three fragments from samples brought back from the first manned landing on the moon. Sealed in magnifying plastic, the moments of the Apollo 11 landing in July 1969 were mounted on a wood stand along with a small New Mexico flag that made the round trip to the moon.

President Nixon presented a similar display to each of the 50 governors.

King said a silver plaque on the display said, "Presented to the people of New Mexico," or the equivalent.

"NOT GOING BACK" Cargo said he doesn't recall what was on the plaque. But regardless, "they're not going back. They're going to the museum."

Investigate Theft Of Safe

Benton Harbor police Friday investigated the reported theft of a small safe containing $528.50 from the home of Mrs. Roscoe Partee, 473 Colfax avenue.

Mrs. Partee told police the six by six by eight inch safe was removed from her home before 5 p.m. while she was out of the house.

Benton Harbor police Friday night arrested Victor Emanuel Hagenbarth, 39, of 1242 Summer court, Benton township, on a charge of driving under the influence of intoxicants. Police said Hagenbarth was arrested in the 300 block of Territorial road.

State police from the Benton Harbor post said burglars entered Rosenthal's Gulf station on M-139 at 1:34 Friday night, but left without loot when apparently frightened off by the night attendant.

Troopers said the attendant, Larry Weber, told them he closed the station at 10 p.m., but returned about 11:50 p.m. to make sure it was locked up. Troopers said money taken from a desk drawer and cigarette machine was found on the floor near the back door in a candy box, while tires kept on a shelf were found on the floor. Troopers said two sets of footprints led across a field to the eastbound ramp of I-94.

Berrien Sheriff's Det. Fred Reeves said he arrested a 15-year-old Benton Harbor boy on a charge of reckless driving Friday afternoon after chasing the auto from East Main at Oden to Paw Paw avenue at Riverside road. Reeves said two 15-year-old boys riding in the auto were arrested on charges of being minors in possession of intoxicants and consuming intoxicants in a public place. Reeves said the chase began when he was on patrol and saw a boy drinking from a bottle. Confiscated was a bottle of whisky, Reeves reported.

Richard Wendzel, route 3, Stevensville, told deputies Friday afternoon that his auto had become stuck on Notre Dame avenue at Lincoln Township Park road. It then was stolen while he left to get help. The auto was described as a 1970 brown Ford. Wendzel told officers he took the car keys with him.

Mrs. Anthony Budris, 4468 Hollywood road, St. Joseph, told deputies Friday a suitcase with assorted clothing and two bags of rolls, totaling $53 in value, were stolen from her auto, parked at Harding's Supermarket lot, Stevensville.

An employee of Comet Discount store, M-139, told Benton township police Friday that a man kicked in the lower pane of glass from the front door she had locked. The employee said she locked the door to prevent the wind from blowing it open. The employee told police the man then entered after she unlocked the door, made some purchases and drove off in a black and yellow car.

Says U.S. Must Keep Promises

ALBION (AP) — America's inability to solve its social and economic problems has made it a nation with "a bad credit risk," Gov. William G. Milliken said today.

"We have been promising to pay off our debts to the unfortunate segments of society for so long that millions of Americans doubt they will ever be paid," the governor said.

"They have stopped lending us their faith, and the only way to establish our credit again is to pay those debts that are so long overdue."

COLLEGE PRESIDENT

Milliken's remarks were prepared for an address at the inaugural luncheon for Bernard T. Lomas, newly installed president of Albion College, a coeducational, liberal arts college founded in 1855.

The governor said he finds a healthy sign in widespread skepticism about government's ability to deliver.

"The fact that millions of Americans can see the great, abiding gap between promise and performance is a national asset that may prove to be more valuable than Fort Knox," the governor said.

He termed campus leftists a "fanatical minority" that "has not stopped talking, but... seem to have lost its ability to create the great campus disruptions which only a short time ago swept through the nation."

Milliken told the Albion students and faculty he believes "a new age of reason has opened in American college life." He urged young people to "realize that not every industrialist is guilty of pollution, that not every suburban homeowner is a racist, that not every legislator is living in the 19th century."
